In a word, Bob Keel is real. He writes from the heart. He writes what he sees. It is untainted and sometimes not pretty. He's writes of love like it was just discovered yesterday and his songs have a way of penetrating down to your very soul. They are soothing sometimes and at other times cutting. Utilizing all of the song writing skills he has amassed in his short life, Bob will speak to you if you are ready to listen.

In 2008, Bob's popular mid-atlantic band, Emmitt Kellar, went their seperate ways after recording three hit albums. Since he was the primary writer for the band, he was able to start off his solo career with the benefit of a vast catalog of songs, which have been augment with new songs that continue to wow audiences in the DC metro area.

Bob currently resides in his native West Virginia, where he runs a very successful open mic every Sunday, which has tripled in audience during his tenure. In addition Bob plays his songs and the songs he loves live on the radio on 89.7 WSHC Shepherstown WV most Saturday evenings from 8-10 pm.
